USRowing Hosts Masters Sweep Camp this July at Michigan State

USRowing is hosting masters sweep sessions this summer in the NE, NW and Midwest for more experienced men and women masters rowers. The 3-day masters clinic in the Midwest will be held at Michigan State from Friday July 26 through Sunday July 28th. Cost is $395 without room+board, and $545 with room+board.

Taught by Buzz Congram (coaching the male campers) and Bebe Bryans (coaching the women), the camp is being offered on a first-come, first-served basis for 16 men and 16 women. You must be a USRowing member and an experienced sweep rower in good physical shape.

Coach Bebe Bryans has established Michigan State as one of the top rowing programs in the nation. Named 2000 Co-Big Ten Rowing Coach of the Year and 1999 Central Region Coach of the Year, she previously coached at Georgetown and was on the NCAA Women's Rowing Committee. She rowed in the U.S. senior women's eight and served as the women's elite sculling coach at the 1995 World Championships.

Coach Buzz Congram, the former men's head coach at Northeastern University for 23 years, has taken Northeastern's varsity crew to the IRA Championships in 1988 and 1991 and his team to the National Collegiate Championships five times, capturing two silver and two bronze medals. He has produced a number of World Championship and Olympic medalists.

All clinics and camps will work on technique, developing a better feel for the boat and promoting a better understanding of the physics of rowing. Masters coxswains are encouraged to attend and learn through the coaching of the rowers.

Camp is filling up fast: find a registration form on the USRowing website at www.usrowing.org, or call 1-800-314-4769 for additional information.
